

Liquid Magic in the Mysterious Caves of Seven Stones

Nestled on benchland overlooking the Similkameen Valley, Seven Stones Winery is a 100% estate winery well-known for its full-bodied red wines, a spectacular view and its mysterious caves. Built with a solid reputation for blends and single varietal reds, Seven Stones is fast becoming a leader in the wine industry. Winery owner and winemaker George Hanson sadly passed away in February 2021, he was passionate about every aspect of winemaking beginning with careful attention to the growth cycles of the grapes to the aging of the wines in world-class caves cellars.

One may wonder why owner George Hanson went to so much effort and expense to build such a marvel. After all, the caves are the only ones of their kind in Canada and have been rated as a world class cellar. The fact is the caves contribute to greater control of the aging process, creating the finest red wines.

Such precision in temperature control is needed as the summer heat in the Similkameen Valley can be extreme, reaching upwards of an arid 40 degrees. The depth of the caves allows the temperature to remain a constant 10.5 degrees, which is imperative to the optimal aging of wine.

Awakening the Senses

No expense was spared in the construction of the caves, creating a mysterious and tantalizing experience for all who visit. The custom-installed LED engineered ambient lighting and sophisticated sound system offer only a taste of extravagance that's offered in the caves. Those fortunate enough to take the "Seven Stones Experience" tour are treated to having all five senses stimulated. The tour includes a wine sample right out of the barrel which is paired with mouth-watering dark chocolate. Music is played on the cave's crystal-clear sound system, an experience that has been known to move one to tears.

If you plan on touring the Similkameen Valley this summer, visiting the caves at Seven Stones should be on the top of your list. Take a tour of the winery and the caves or even just breathe in the view on the sundeck with your picnic lunch as you enjoy a crisp, refreshing glass of Seven Stones Chardonnay. Whatever you decide, your experience at Seven Stones Winery will be truly unforgettable.
